Hone the moviemaker's craft, jumpstart a new project, or reenergize a current one while relaxing and recharging in the nation's premiere historic seaside resort.

Diverse panel discussions, individual learning sessions, and practical demonstrations address all major aspects of production. This intense weekend also offers a unique networking opportunity for creative professionals to access both classic and current moviemaking trends.

Expand the present,
explore the future...

Open to film and video makers of all genres, the Conference welcomes the most seasoned as well as the bold and aspiring. All speakers are film industry professionals dedicated to learning and innovating. The program will be demanding, but the atmosphere collegial and supportive.

Cape May Film Festival was recently awarded the Best Film Festival in the state of New Jersey for the second consecutive year. Since its birth in 2001, the Festival has hosted many notable actors, filmmakers and educators in celebrating the art of the cinema. The Festival also strongly believes that independent moviemaking will continue to be an increasingly powerful force in the future, providing new ideas and fresh perspectives to both mainstream and alternative visions in the ever-developing global marketplace.

The Festival continues to sponsor numerous film series and discussions. This year, it embarks on the next stage in its mission to enrich, educate, and entertain. CineScape: the 1st Annual MovieMaking Conference provides a singular opportunity to gain the artistic inspiration, technical expertise, and financial acumen essential to the art and craft of making movies today.

Proceeds benefit the Cape May Film Festival Young Filmmaker Program's work with students and at-risk youth.
