The Year of World Premieres at Cape May Film Festival

(Cape May, NJ) “Not only haven’t local residents of Cape May not seen more than a dozen of the films at this year’s Cape May NJ State Film Festival—nobody in the world has seen them either,” says Stefan Prosky, Curator for the Film Festival which runs November 21 through 23 exclusively at Beach Theatre.

“The headliner is the world premiere of ‘BuzzKill,’ starring Saturday Night Live’s Darrell Hammond. This comedy delivers on the laughs—and again it hasn’t premiered anywhere else. Next is one of my favorite short films, ‘Paper Dreams,’ which heads up a fantastic collection of short films.”

But the premieres don’t stop there. There will be another dozen films that have never been seen in all of New Jersey or in southern New Jersey. Prosky adds “The New Jersey premieres start with ‘Seasons in the Valley,’ narrated by Hollywood veteran Elliott Gould, and ‘Objects and Memory,’ a documentary featured in other regions on the PBS network. There are so many fabulous documentaries this year. You’ll want to check out the schedule at www.capemayfilm.org.”

Even our new “Late Show” offerings have world and New Jersey Premieres! “These are films that are somewhat different from what we normally offer at the Festival,” says Prosky. “They’re an eclectic selection for sure, with a feature film called “Eclipse” and a host of shorts most of which have never been seen before. Perfect for the night owls!”

The Cape May Film Society hosts the Cape May Film Festival, which is New Jersey’s premiere film festival dedicated to the support and presentation of creative, challenging, groundbreaking, film/video works by New Jersey filmmakers. The Society is also the region’s leading educational and cultural resource for youth and adult learners interested in all facets of the cinematic experience.
